FOURTH OF JULY ACTIVITIES

Thankful Thursday

The Fourth of July is a beloved American holiday – a time when families indulge in fireworks, food, and friendship. As the summer holiday approaches, give your kids the chance to think about their favorite Fourth of July activities and the significance behind the holiday. Below are some ideas to get the kids thinking.

What does independence mean to you?

I am thankful to live in America because...

Why did the colonists want freedom so badly?

What does it mean to be patriotic?

I feel most American when...

How can we be thankful for our freedom each day?

If I could celebrate Fourth of July anywhere in America, I would go to...

Why is our flag so symbolic?

What is the most important part about the Declaration of Independence?

Write a poem about living in America.

Why is it important for us to have independence?

America is a wonderful country because...

What is your favorite Fourth of July memory?

If I could visit any historical American site, it would be...

In 20 years, I think America will be...

What are your favorite kind of fireworks?

In your opinion, what is the most important freedom in the Bill of Rights?

Write about some of your favorite Fourth of July activities.

Our government is special because...think of America today?

Do you prefer loud or pretty fireworks?
