

The responsibilities of an Owner/Builder.

This section outlines the job responsibilities of a property owner when they decide to handle their own construction projects as an owner/builder.

When you sign a building permit application as an owner/builder, you assume full responsibility for all phases of your project and its integrity. You must pull all building permits. Your project must pass codes and building inspections.

The owner/builder is responsible for ordering materials and making sure all suppliers are paid.

An owner/builder is also responsible for supervising, scheduling and paying subcontractors. If you use anyone other than your immediate family or a licensed subcontractor for work, you may be considered an "employer".

Employers must register with the state and federal governments and are obligated to participate in state and federal income tax withholding, federal social security taxes, workers' compensation insurance, disability insurance costs, and unemployment compensation contributions

The downside of being an Owner/Builder

This section presents some additional issues that should be taken into consideration before deciding to become an owner/builder.

Unless you are knowledgeable about construction, mistakes can be costly and take additional time to repair or do it right.

Subcontractors and suppliers who are not paid on schedule may file mechanic's liens against your property. Educate yourself about mechanic's liens and how to prevent them.

If your workers are injured, or your subcontractors are not licensed or do not carry liability insurance or worker's compensation and they are injured, you could be asked to pay for injuries and rehabilitation through your homeowner's insurance policy or face lawsuits.

You should be cautious of unlicensed individuals claiming to be contractors who prey upon homeowners. They may promise to guide you through the owner/builder process for a consulting fee, but they are breaking the law.

REMEMBER

As an owner/builder, you assume full responsibility for all phases of your project and its integrity.

Licensed contractors must demonstrate knowledge of their craft, be tested, fingerprinted, bonded and FBI background checked before they are licensed to work in California.

Illegal contractors can bungle a job or skip with the down payments leaving the owner/builder pretty much on their own to deal with the issue.
