A request to modify the materials of the facade of a residential building abutting and across the street from a historic residence. A larger remodel project went through a public hearing process with approval to enclose a stairway, expand decks, enclose carports, reconfigure the entry, and modify materials. The owner has downscaled the project to keeping the carport conversion to garages, reconfiguring the entry, and updating materials. The project meets requirements and improves the appearance of the property according to the guidelines.
